

Closer Connections for Business

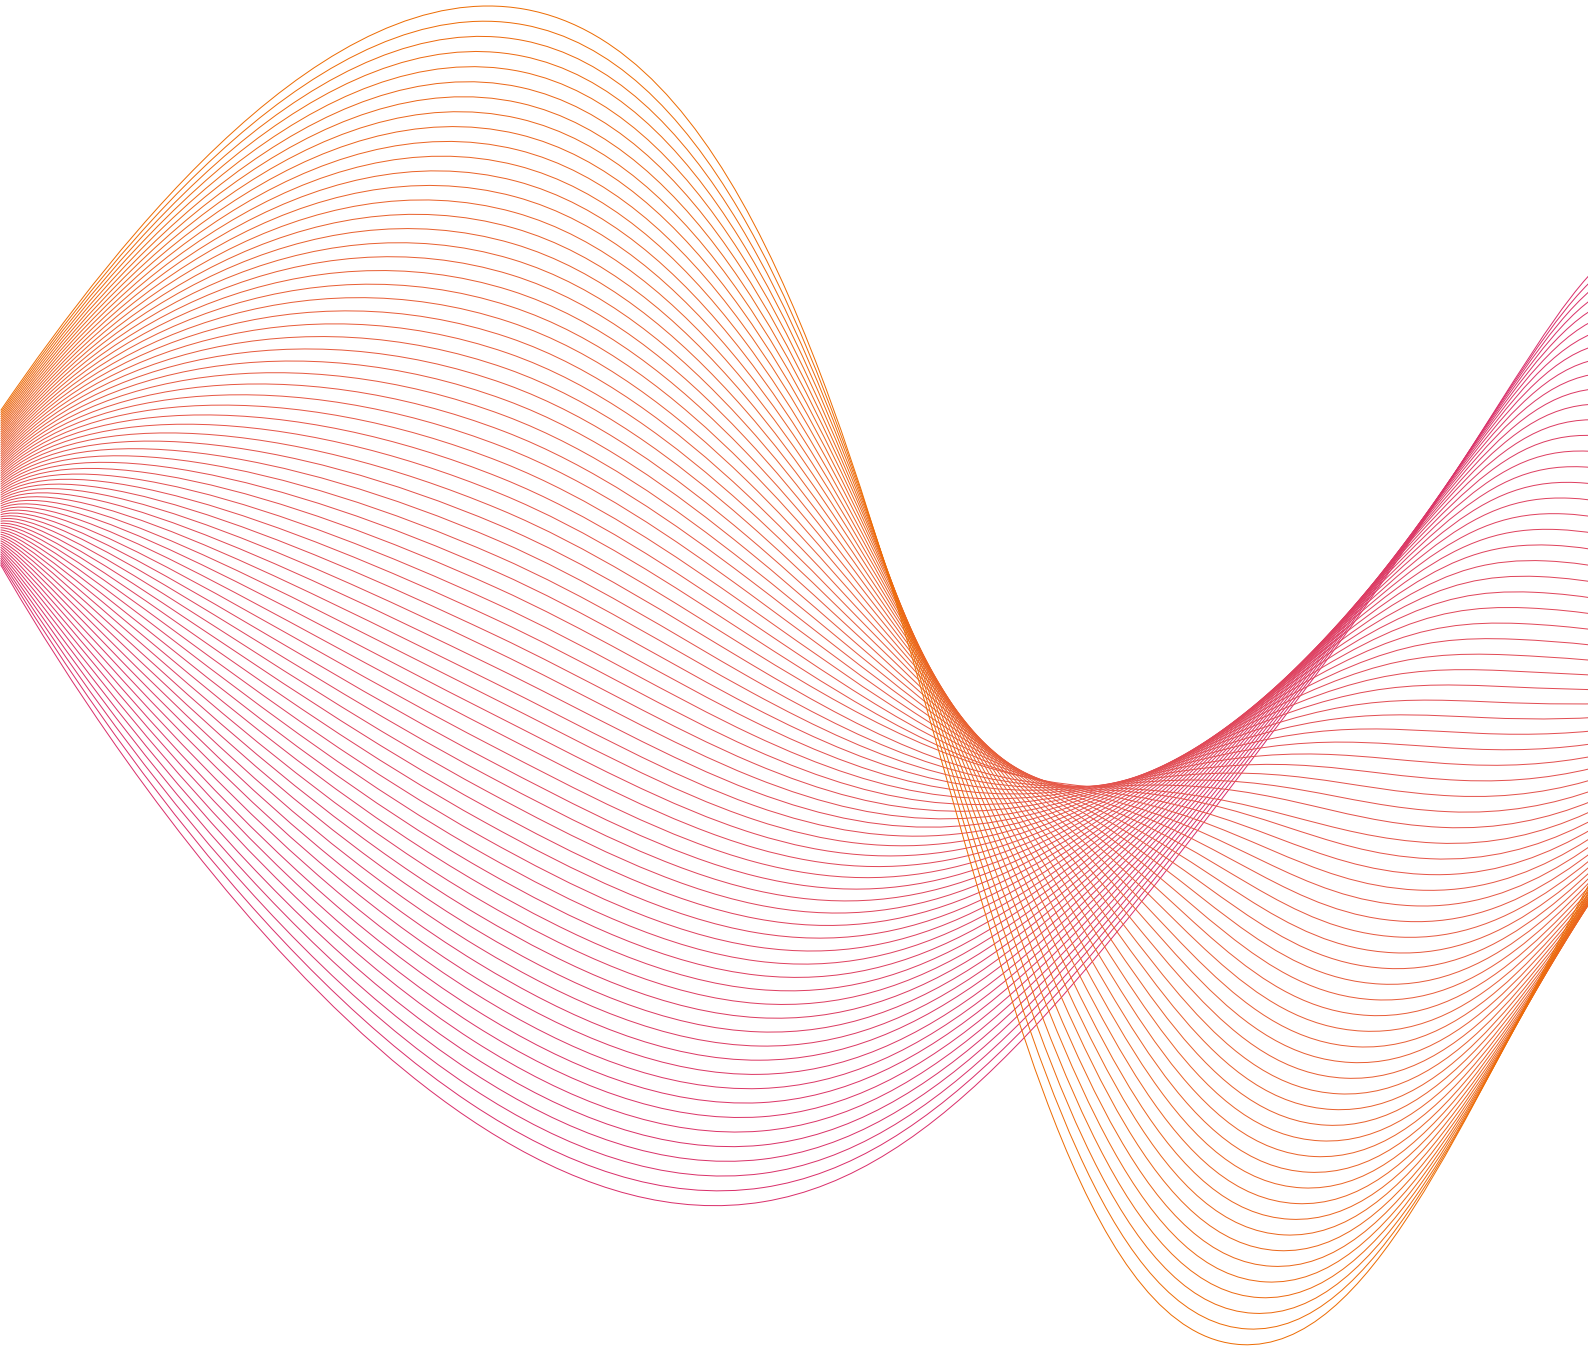

In our business,
it's relationships that matter most

How well we work together helps the whole market to perform better.

Yet the many legacy systems and processes that maintain our connections provide constant challenges.

It's like keeping up with your children on What's App, your partner by TXT and a parent who calls you daily, at supper time.

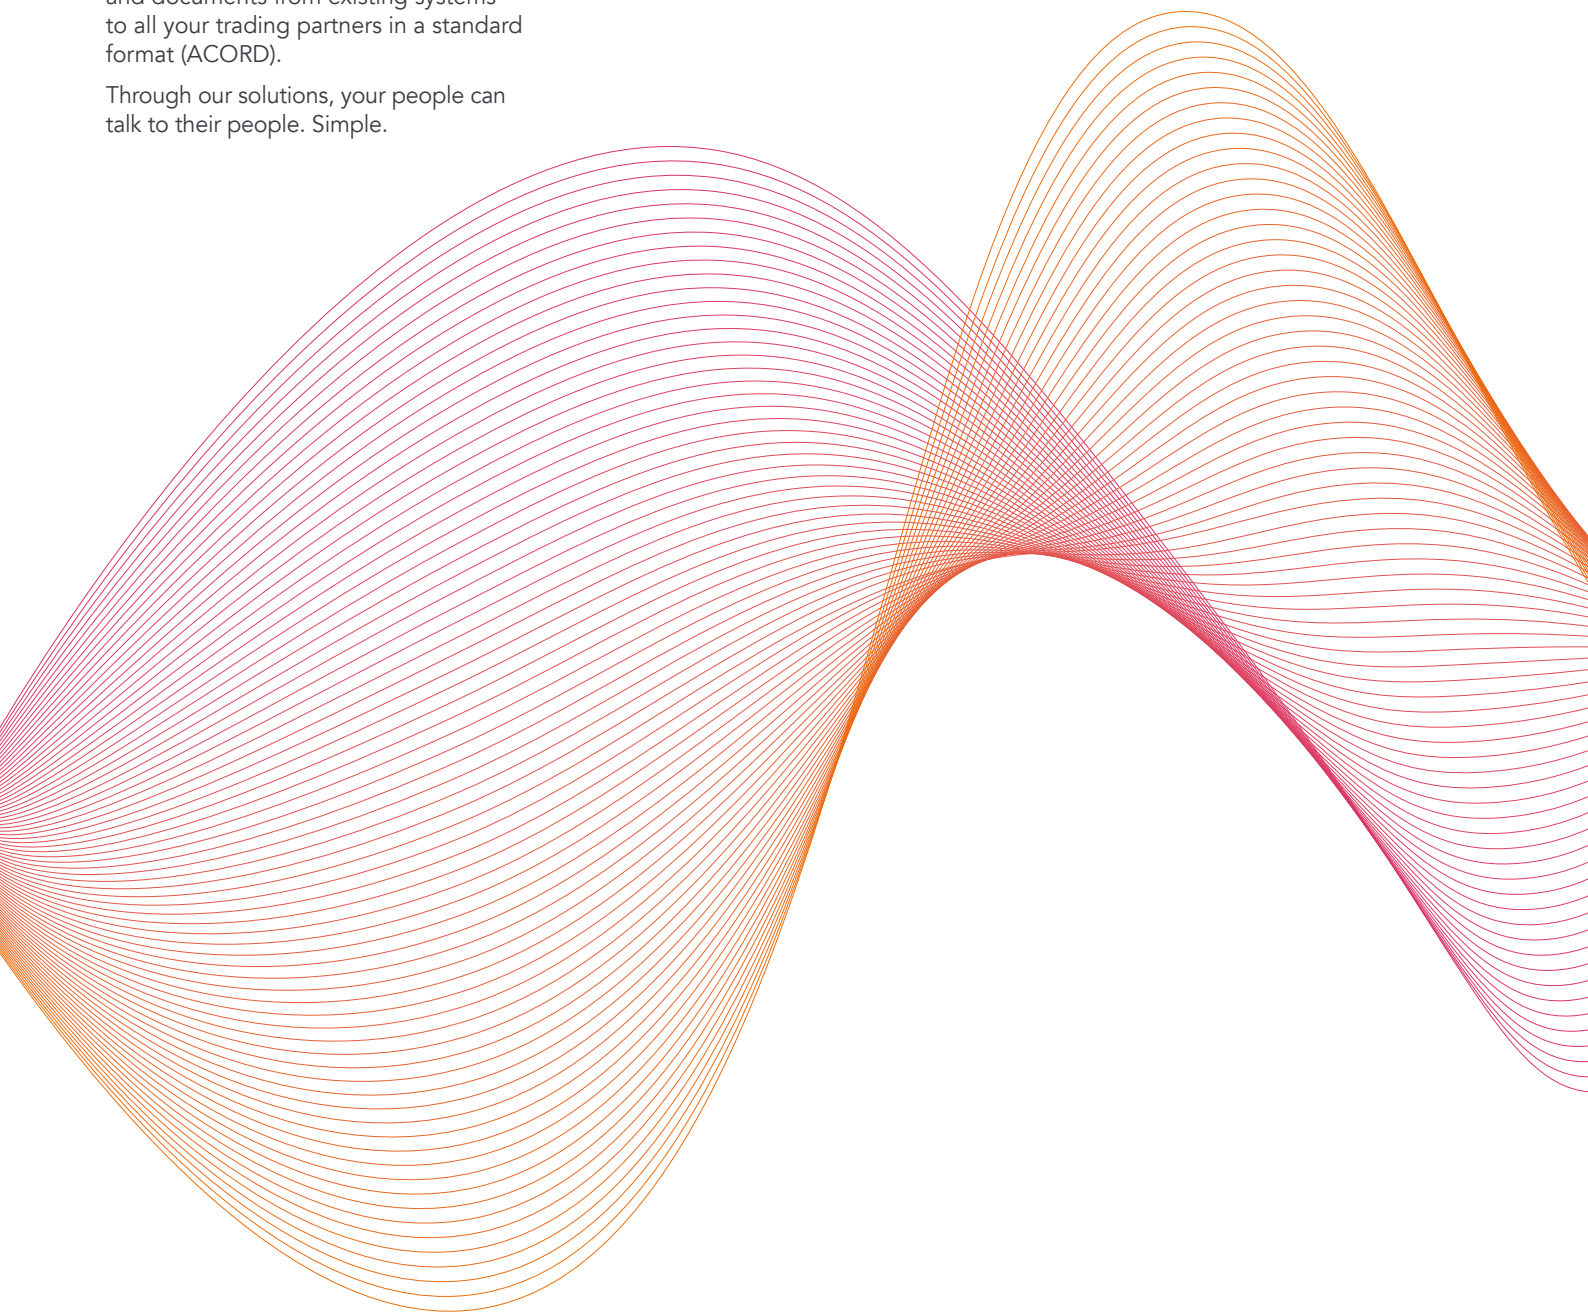

ACORD standards for data and messaging provide a simple and structured way to exchange critical business information.

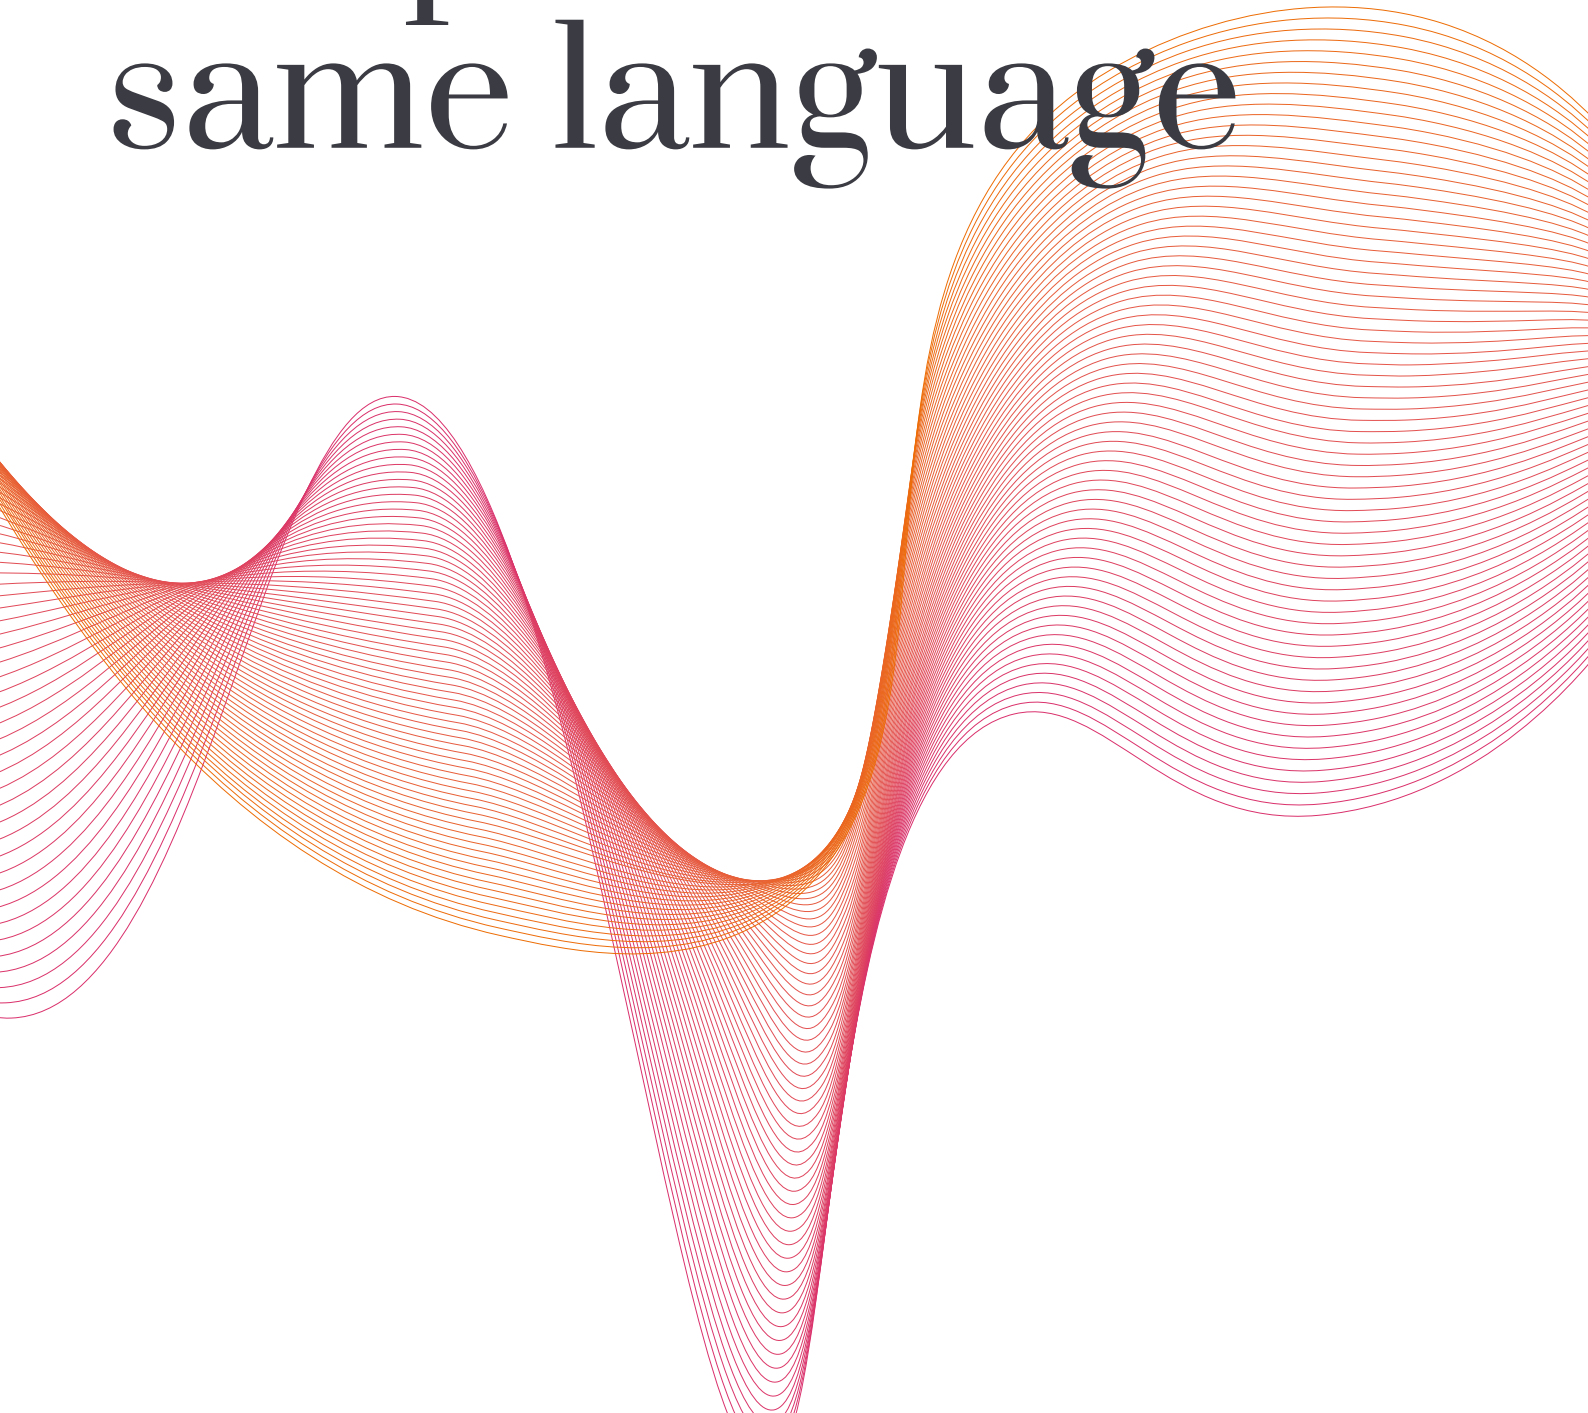

As the largest handler of commercial ACORD messages, we provide a scalable and secure way of integrating legacy systems, and automating manual processes to make every connection faster and more reliable.

Our software enables you to move data and documents from existing systems to all your trading partners in a standard format (ACORD).

Through our solutions, your people can talk to their people. Simple.

It's easier to join forces when we all speak the same language

Every conversation is more than an exchange of words,
each transaction more than moving money

The quantity and variety of information that needs to be transferred between applications in the course of insurance and reinsurance business underlines why electronic messaging is critical to improving business processes.

WCL's 'enabled' solutions provide the means by which messages, notifications and queries can be exchanged in a structured format despite being generated using different applications.

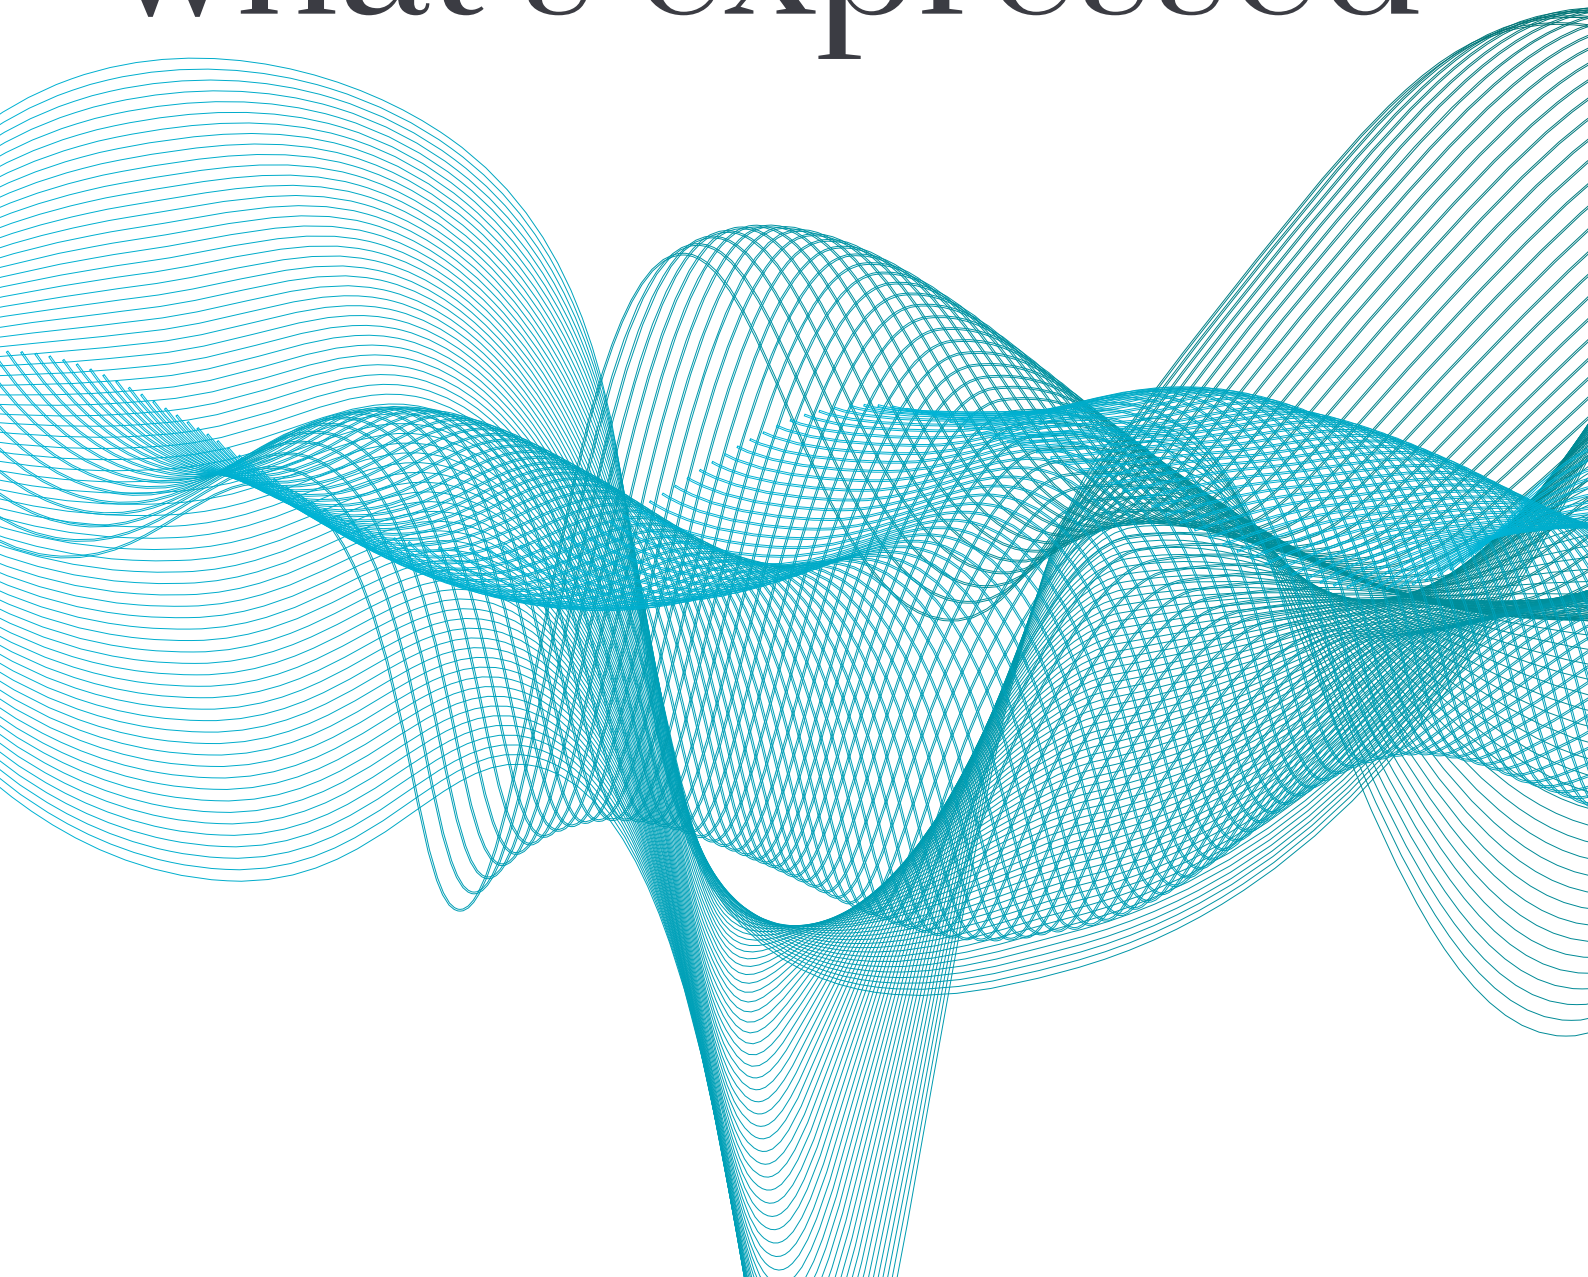

Our solutions translate each message for transfer, based on the ACORD standard, and reconstruct it in the required format at the receiving end - automatically populating existing applications with both data and documents.

Each party is therefore able to save resource on re-keying information, save time through automation, and can be certain of the outcome.

WCL supports messaging in all insurance transactions: placing, accounting and settlement, and claims.

What is implied can be as valuable as what's expressed

The simplicity and greater efficiency that comes of using WCL's software to transfer business data and documents between parties is reason enough to make the leap into electronic placement, accounting and settlement, and claims.

But the benefit of the benefit is bigger.

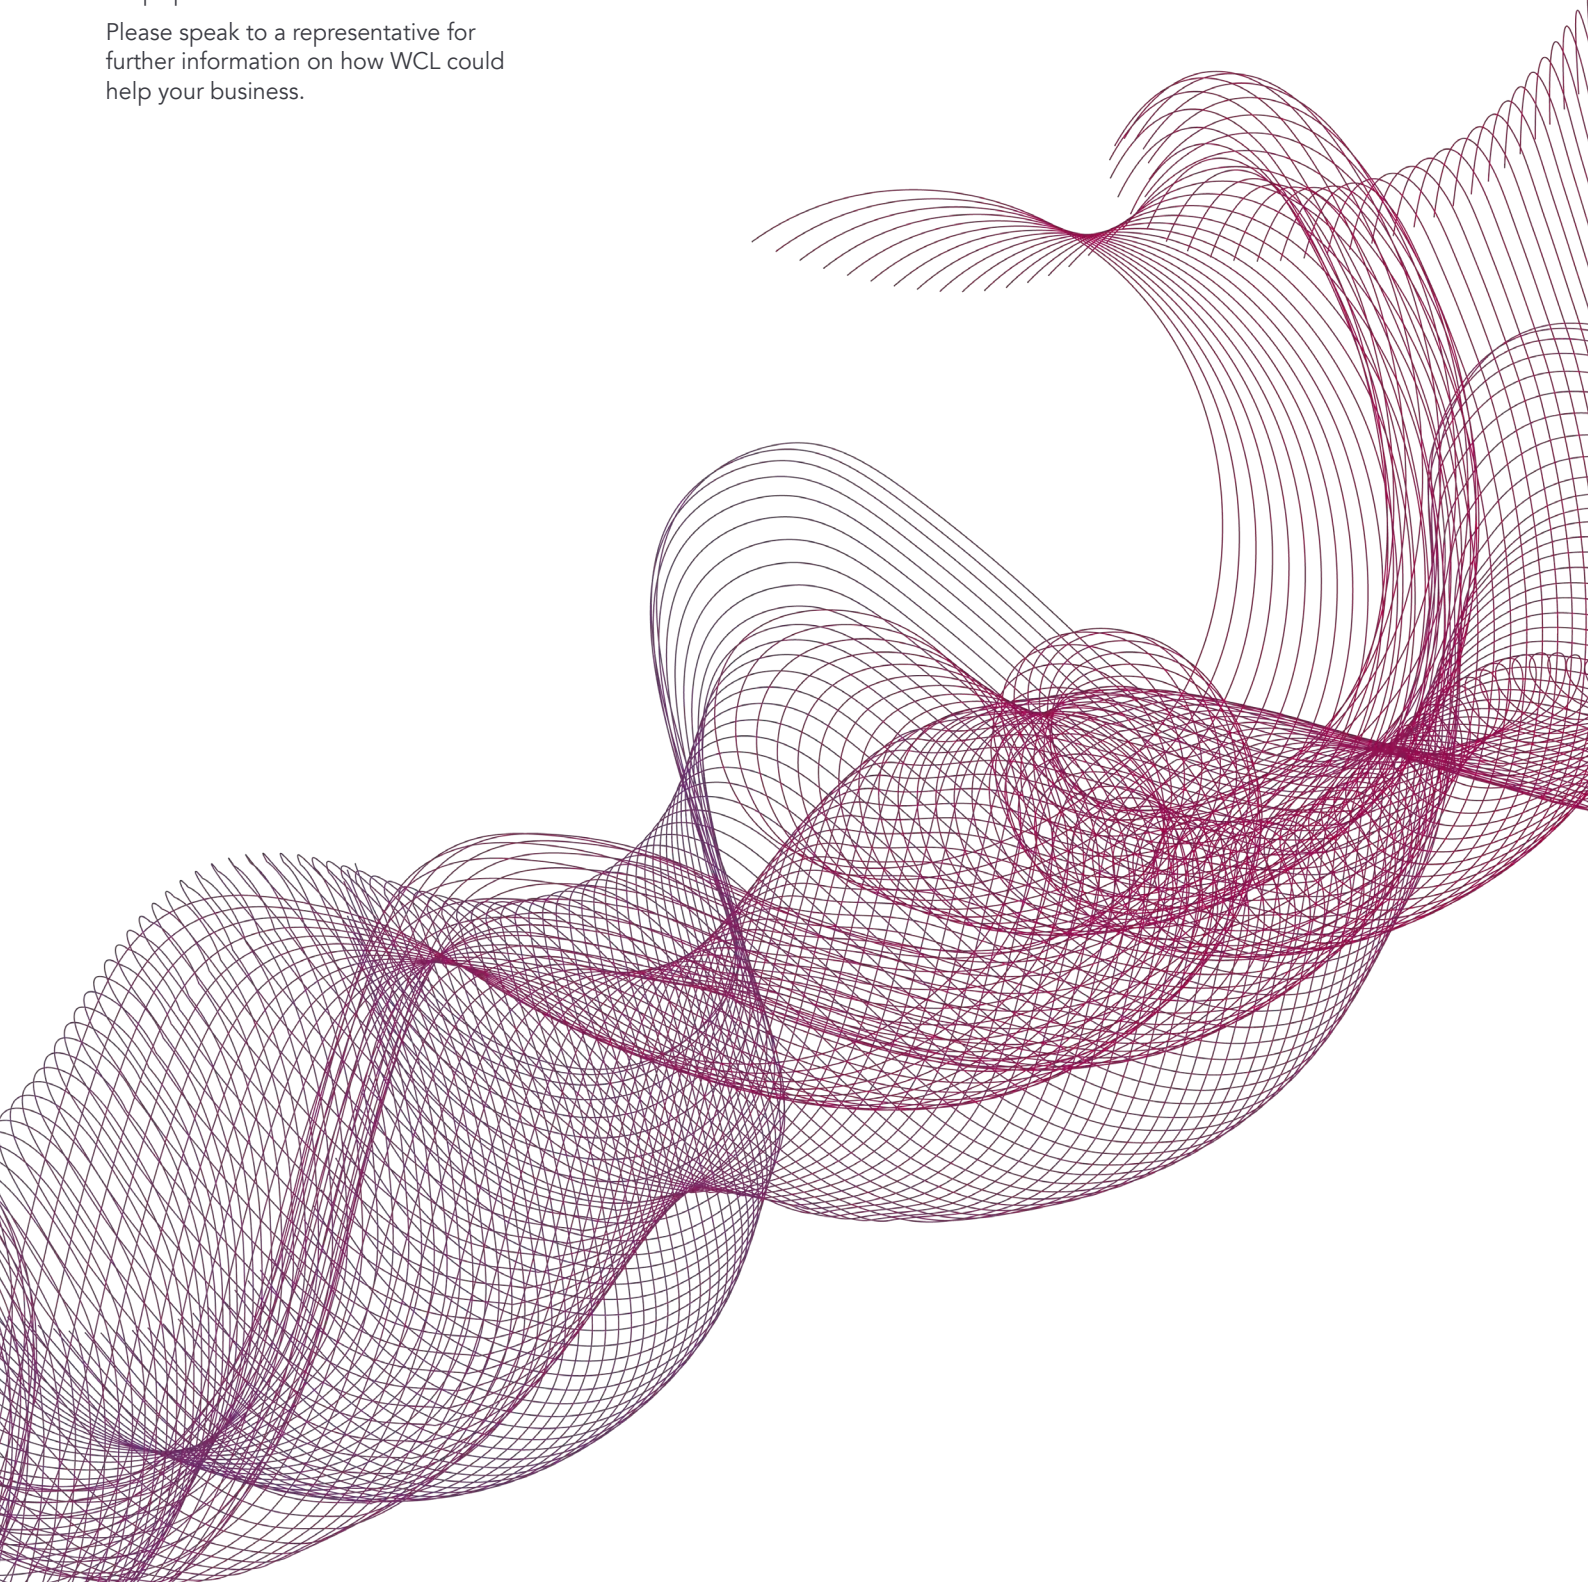

Once in use our systems provide additional possibilities and outcomes elsewhere in the business.

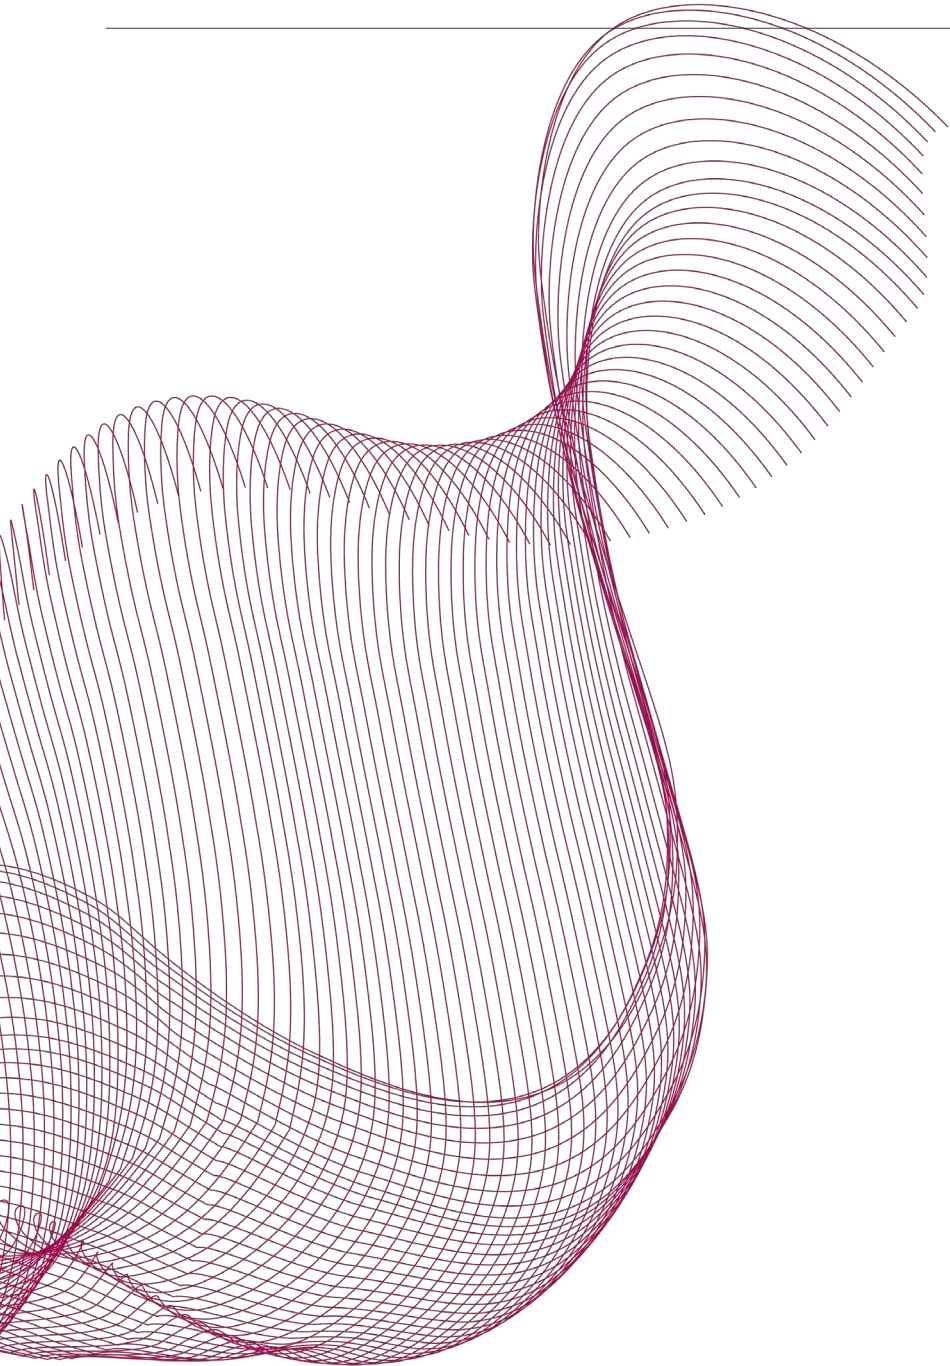

Through our software we bring everyone closer together— improving the flow of business information and creating stronger relationships between brokers and carriers.

The benefits for the business of improving cost efficiency through automation, and reducing risk by increasing data accuracy are palpable.
