Successful Insights Implementation Across Multiple Duck Creek Carriers

Duck Creek Insights

Modernizing the data architecture and creating value with actionable business intelligence, Aggne has implemented insights for multiple Duck Creek carriers and enabled insurers to use data as strategic asset in real-time.

Enforces Your Data to Work

While insurance carriers collect all kinds of data from across their enterprises, fully leveraging the power of the collected data, effectively managing it, and making decisions out of it can be a daunting task. Only when carriers have data-driven insights can they transform their enterprise data into information assets, to capture new market opportunities.

To gain improved access and actionable intelligence on data from across their enterprises, carriers need a tool that can monitor all production activities between policy and billing and analyse data across the insurance value chain and ecosystem.

Aggne, with its know-how of Duck Creek Insights for enterprise data analytics, mines the inherent data and turn them into transformational insights to improve user productivity and ensure that the business value is delivered.
