

End-to-End Payment Processing for Insurance

Payments is THE moment of truth for customers, be it to pay a premium, or make a claim; and represents one of the most crucial moments in managing client expectations. Payments, however, can also be very difficult to manage, with complex integrations, time consuming processes, manual interventions, limited flexibility and high costs of ownership. To solve the complexity of payments, Duck Creek has built two world-class payment solutions. The Duck Creek Payments Orchestrator, which is natively embedded into a range of Duck Creek core products, and Duck Creek Payments Facilitator, our cloud-based, insurance-leading, payment facilitation solution.

Duck Creek Payments Orchestrator

Connecting to various payments services can be complex and costly for insurers, often limiting access to the full benefits of the global payments ecosystem.

Duck Creek Payments Orchestrator eliminates these barriers by providing a single, streamlined connection to a wide array of payment services, technologies, and providers worldwide. Whether for collections or payouts, insurers can seamlessly access their solutions, regardless of their current IT infrastructure.

We do all the heavy lifting of integrating and maintaining connections to providers and core systems, allowing our carriers to build their ideal payment workflow.
